Alderney Scorecard™ Financial Health Scoring Services

The Alderney Scorecard™ is an insightful analytical tool explicitly designed to proactively assess and track the financial health of a company's supply base. The Alderney Scorecard™ can be applied to virtually any manufacturing industry segment with a critical need for transparent supply chain diagnostics.

Regular and consistent monitoring of supply base financial health is a key element in mitigating a company's risk from supplier failure; the cost of which can substantially impact profits and disrupt operations. A financial scoring is an important metric and cornerstone of a company's integrated supply risk mitigation process. The Alderney Scorecard™ provides clients with a turnkey service to support these critical activities.

The Alderney Scorecard™ assesses five key financial metrics and incorporates Alderney's proprietary algorithm to assign a financial health score to a subject company. Key metrics for capital intensive industries include profitability, capital investment, liquidity, leverage and asset efficiency.

The Alderney Scorecard™ is an interactive tool. The target companies provide financial data via a user friendly input form.

An Alderney professional reviews the financial data for clarity and reasonable accuracy, at times requiring dialogue with the subject company, and provides commentary about the main elements of the algorithm that drive the score. This added review process is an important differentiator that ensures Alderney perspective and insights are tailored to the risks and challenges a client might face.

For a very reasonable cost, clients are able to achieve full financial scoring coverage for their global supply bases.
